

History Ancient Modern

We meet on the 2nd and 4th Tuesday mornings of each month from 9.45 to 12 noon at a retirement village in Albany

We are currently studying a Great Course series of 48 Lectures on "The Development of European Civilization" which traces the development of European civilization from the Middle Ages until 1939 by investigating the interdependency between ideas & action, ideology & practice, theory & events.

A great many of the still-dynamic perspectives on the world arose in Europe, making that continent a laboratory for the conditions and ideas that animate the modern world.

The lectures are a narrative of the mind and experience of Europe, a continent that became the engine of the modern world and the repository of Western culture.
